STILLNESS, NOT SILENCE One of the most important aspects of our Zen practice is stillness. But there is a common misconception among Zen practitioners that stillness means "silence," and this is simply not the case. The quest for silence, in the meditative sense, is simply an attempt to separate one's

STILLNESS, NOT SILENCE - CloudWater

Whatever happens, don't be afraid of the silence within and without. The real purpose of silence is to be able to 'hear' God with inner ears. This story from the Old Testament about the prophet Elijah may help you to understand how God seems to have a preference for stillness and silence as a way to communicate with us.

Between Silence and Stillness

There is a presence, a silence, a stillness which is here by itself. There is no doer of it, no creator of this stillness. It is simply here in you, with you. It is the fragrance of your own self. There is nothing to do about this, it is naturally present. This fragrance of peace, this spaciousness, it is the fragrance of your own being. ~Mooji
